The museum opened on 12 March 2010 in a free-standing, two-floor building on the southern portion of the Batman Cultural Center site. The museum's collection of 450 items is organized into three exhibition halls, one covering the Paleolithic and Neolithic periods, a second with items from the Il?su Dam excavations and a third with items from the city of Hasankeyf.

Other important items in the museum's collections include bronze grave gifts from Ba?ur Höyük; a figure of the god Bes from Hasankeyf; and a stele excavated from a 14,000-year-old site at Gusir Höyük, just west of Gusir Gölü, near the confluence of the Botan River with the Tigris southeast of Siirt

The museum theater shows documentary films related to the objects on display in the museum. The museum also has a library with work on archeology, culture and art history and a restoration laboratory.

Outside, the "Museum Park" recreates historic buildings from the region with the aim of allowing visitors to experience the region's history more directly. These exhibits include recreations of the houses discovered at Güsir Höyük and at Gre Amer Höyük (on the east bank of the Garzan River, near I?kveren village) as part of the Il?su Dam rescue excavation; inhumation customs as observed at Kuriki Höyük (near Oymata? village, 14 kilometres (8.7 mil south of Batman); the Ba?ur Höyük gaming pieces; the Artuqid Gate from Hasankeyf; and a recreation of 20th-century village life in Hasankeyf. Day 5 : Daily Hasankeyf Tour

Breakfast Included

We will pick you up from your hotel and go to Hasankeyf Tour.

Very summer week-end the small city is invaded by huge crowds of local tourists coming from Batman, a large industrial Kurdish city, some 30 km away. For two days, Hasankeyf is full of people looking for some shade and relaxation on the bank of the Tigris, where they can eat Kebab and drink a cold soda while dipping their feet in the river. Others prefer to enjoy the cool atmosphere of huge caves dug in the cliff, where local entrepreneurs have set up cafes, with carpets, cushions and old wooden couches, where tourists can lay for hours listening to traditional Turkish music, waiting for the time of the day when the worst of the day's heat has subsided and they can climb the amazing steps dug centuries ago partly on the flank of the cliff, partly inside the cliff -- and reach the ancient ruins of the old fortress.

Spectacular ruins

The cliff and the old city the ruins of the small palace located at the north-east end of the fortress are spectacularly perched at the extreme end of the cliff, dominating the valley like the stern of a huge stone ship. Looking down at the Tigris and the valley through one of its remaining windows one can understand why the Kurdish chiefs who lived there until the end of the 19th century felt so proud and so secure: perched up there, almost in the clouds, one had not much in common with the poor human beings toiling down in the valley below. Alas, little is left of the great palace, except a standing pillar of the old gate. But the ancient Ulu mosque, built by the Ayyubids in 1325 over an antique church, still rises amongst the ruins of the city and one can still pick out a very ancient inscription at the base of its minaret. After the tour return back to your hotel. Overnight in Batman
